

Pelvic Function Modalities: The Pelvic Health Toolkit 2024 Vendor Collaboration Form

Thank you for your interest in collaborating with Herman & Wallace. We provide continuing education courses, products, certification, and resources for medical professionals seeking to improve their practice skills for the treatment of pelvic floor/girdle dysfunction and numerous other conditions affecting patients' lives.

This year (2024), Herman and Wallace launched a new modalities class - and it's a HIT! Modalities and Pelvic Function: The Pelvic Health Toolkit provides pelvic health specialists the unique opportunity to get hands-on experience that they can then utilize with their pelvic floor clients.

This modalities course is designed to provide pelvic health practitioners the opportunity to learn about and get experience with all of the available products for pelvic health in areas such as bowel, bladder, and sexual function. This course provides pelvic health specialists the unique opportunity to get hands-on experience that they can then utilize with their pelvic floor clients.

Herman & Wallace finds great value in your products and would love to have your company represented in our class. All collaboration options for this course include you providing a description and photos of your product(s). The product options available are:

- Provide us with your branded photos with written permission for these to be utilized in our class presentation.
- Provide samples of your product to be shown during class.
- Provide samples/giveaways to give to participants in the class.
- Provide us with a coupon code so participants can purchase your product.

The completed Vendor Collaboration Form can be emailed to info@hermanwallace.com, along with any branded photos, additional information, and questions. Thank you so much for your interest in supporting Herman & Wallace and the development of pelvic health specialists!

Sincerely,

Harriet Newhouse (she/her/hers)
